WATER SUPPLY IS REPORTED PURE.

Analysis of Samples Show Absence of Any Typhoid Germ.

TEST MADE IS SATISFACTORY

Water Sheds Patrolled Once Every Week and Every Effort is Made to Prevent Pollution Says Superintendent Stillwagon.

That the water supply of Connellsville is not only pure but is free from typhoid fever germs is the statement of Superintendent J. D. Stillwagon of the Connellsville Water Company today. Mr. Stillwagon this morning received the analysis of four samples of water which were taken from the various points and received by the chemist on August 12, last Friday. The analysis were made by Francis V. Phillips, of the department of chemistry at the University of Pittsburgh.

The test for bacteria showed 101 per cubic centimeter in the unfiltered water from the Youghiogheny river; 19 in the water from the McCoy reservoir; and 65 in the water from the Brecknock reservoir.

No coliform bacillus, the typhoid germ, was found in any of the samples and the indications in this respect were reported favorable by Chemist Phillips.

Superintendent Stillwagon says there is no truth in the report that the water is low in both the Brecknock and McCoy reservoirs. Both of these have been practically full all summer. The Brecknock reservoir is running over and there is no shortage in the McCoy basin. The McCoy reservoir has been filled by constant pumping from the station along the Youghiogheny.

Unrest care is being observed by the water company to prevent the water from being contaminated. The water shed above the reservoir is patrolled once every week and any source of pollution would quickly be discovered.

Regarding conditions above Connellsville along the Youghiogheny river, these are beyond the control of the water company. A representative of the State Board of Health but recently made an inspection to the headwaters of the Youghiogheny and the Casselman rivers. He has not yet made his report public. All the water taken from the Youghiogheny river is thoroughly filtered before it goes through the service line.

Flying Bullets Barely Missed Woman in Home

Special to The Courier.—A narrow escape from curios, if not fatal injury was that of Mrs. Lou Walker at Fairchance Sunday afternoon when eight or ten men engaged in promiscuous target practice shot a supposedly mud engine. Between 20 and 30 shots were fired before the dog was finally hit and killed.

Mrs. Walker was standing in the doorway of her home. One of the bullets hit the curb and glanced upward, going through the screen door within an inch of Mrs. Walker's head.

Mrs. Walker is the wife of the cashier of the First National Bank of Fairchance.

Pledged Without License.

CONNELLSVILLE, Aug. 17.—(Special.) Charles Petty was arrested yesterday at Smock by Special Officer Lee Coffman for peddling without a license. He will be given a hearing this evening before Squipe John Boyle.

FLIES FROM PARIS TO LONDON.

M. Moissant Crosses Channel and Has But Short Leg Ahead to Complete Great Flight.

United Press Telegram.
LONDON, Aug. 17.—M. Moissant, with flying from Paris to London, landed at 11:27 today at Tilbury-on-the-Sea, after crossing the channel. The cold upper air forced him to descend. After warming up he expects to continue.

Habert Latham, Moissant's competitor, while returning to Paris, crashed into a tree. His machine was badly damaged but he escaped without injury. The entreaties of Latham's mother caused the aviator to abandon the London flight.

The flight from Paris to London was probably the greatest that has been attempted on the Continent. Besides negotiating the crossing of the English Channel, which in itself has been regarded as a great feat in aviation, the flights from Paris to the Channel and from the English side to London are both long legs of the journey by air. Great crowds are gathered by the outskirts of London.

Foreign Brewers Are Active in Camps Along Western Maryland Construction.

There is apparently considerable activity on the part of foreign brewery agents among the construction camps of the Western Maryland between this point and the Somerset county line at Contingent. Great quantities of beer are being consumed and it is said that the Fayette county establishments are not supplying all that is purchased.

At one point not many days ago no less than 40 cases of empty bottles were at the Baltimore & Ohio station

Leblanc Wins the Great Cross Country Flight in France by Sixteen Minutes.

United Press Telegram.
PARIS, Aug. 17.—Only two competitors finished for the $17,000 cross-country aeroplane flight, which came to an end here today when M. Leblanc finished 16 minutes ahead of M. Aubrun.

The course was 191 miles. Several competitors entered but were unable to continue the grueling flight. Leblanc made 70 miles on the final stretch this morning, flying from Amiens to Issy.

When Leblanc appeared over the city the crowds cheered. Minister of War Brun and General Danstout, Military Governor of Paris, were among the first to greet the winner. Leblanc flew over the Eiffel tower. Aubrun sailed higher. Aubrun's aged father greeted him with tears and kisses. The crowd shouldered the aviators and carried them to the automobiles which paraded them to the office of Le Matin, which planned the race and gave a $50,000 prize.

Leblanc covered the distance in 11 hours and 56 minutes. It was the longest flight ever attempted in aeroplanes. Both then used the monoplane type.

After an illness of almost three years, Miss Estella Moon, aged 16 years, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. S. Moon, of East Main street, died yesterday afternoon at the John Hopkins hospital at Baltimore where she was taken about six weeks ago for treatment. Soon after her arrival at the hospital she had her tonsils removed. Her condition seemed to improve and very favorable reports were received from the hospital up until yesterday, when a telegram was received by Mr. Moon announcing the death of his daughter. Mrs. Moon has been with her daughter since her removal to the hospital. Mr. Moon left for Baltimore immediately after receiving the telegram. The body will likely arrive in Connellsville this evening on B. & O. train No. 15. No arrangements will be made for the funeral until the arrival of the body.

Deceased was born at Ohiopyle and came to Connellsville with her parents six years ago. She attended the local public schools up until her health failed her. Every possible attention was given her as well as the best of medical attention, but with no avail. She spent some time at Mt. Clemens, Mich., and underwent an operation in hopes of recovering her health. She attended the First Baptist Church and had a wide circle of friends including both old and young who learned of her untimely death with the deepest of regret.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by four brothers, Harry, Alva, Tom and Leo Moon.

DETECTIVES SEEK VOLPIANO.

Three Italians Take Up Search for Missing Murderer.

County Detective McBeth in Charge.

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, Aug. 17.—Whether Antonio Volpiano is to suffer punishment for the murder of Gattaldo Neal on last Thursday morning depends on the efforts of three Italian detectives who have been pressed into service by the Fayette county authorities to apprehend the fugitive.

Through the efforts of County Detective Alex McBeth, it was learned that after the shooting the man made his way, under cover of darkness, to the home of a relative at house No. 47, at Deardorff, where he secured suitable clothing in which to make his escape. They were not aware at the time that he was wanted by the police.

covertly he has been confined in the county jail a number of times for fighting. On every occasion he resisted arrest. Volpiano was known as a bad man to all the people in the region where he lived. Strong evidence has been secured that he is a Camorrist, or member of the Black Hand.

YOUNGWOOD BOY WINS SCHOLARSHIP

Geo. F. Wolfe Will Take Course at Lehigh University.

HE IS SON OF AN ENGINEER

Who Runs on the Southwest Branch, Boy is Seventeen Years Old and Graduated This Year at the Greensburg High School.

George F. Wolfe of Youngwood, Pa., and M. Roy Strong of Cleveland, O., were today announced as the successful candidates for the Frank Thomson Scholarships. With the addition of these two young men, there will be eight holders of these scholarships, which amounts to $100 annually, and which are awarded upon competitive examination to sons of employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad System.

The successful candidates for the scholarships in 1907 were W. B. Budd of Medina, Pa., who graduated in June of this year from Yale University, and George J. Richards of Altoona, who is taking a course of engineering at the University of Pennsylvania. In 1908 Merritt E. Gill, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, now at the University of Michigan, and Harry Walls Anderson of Eleroy, Delaware County, Pa., now at the University of Pennsylvania, were awarded the scholarships. Benjamin M. Snyder, Jr., of Elmira, N. Y., and Wallace B. Portis of Youngstown, O., won the scholarships in 1909.

Young Wolfe is a son of George D. Wolfe, a locomotive engineer on the Southwest Branch of the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He is seventeen years old and has just graduated from the High School in Greensburg, Pa. He expects to enter the Civil Engineering Department of Lehigh University.

M. Roy Strong is a son of Arthur W. Strong, telegraph operator on the Cleveland & Pittsburg Division of the Pennsylvania Line. He has been attending the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, O. He is 21 years of age, and expects to continue at the Case school. Strong is at present a member of the engineer corps on the Cleveland & Pittsburg division.

The Thomas Scholarships were established by Annie Thomson, Clark Graham Thomson and Clark Thomson, children of the late President Frank Thomson of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The grantors of this trust fund of $120,000 declared it was their desire to afford to the sons of living and deceased employees of the Pennsylvania system an opportunity for a technical education. With the awards for 1910 there are eight beneficiaries of the Thomson Scholarship Fund receiving a college education. This number will be maintained by awarding two scholarships every year.

BACK TO THE LAND

National Movement of Residents of Cities to Become Farmers.

In the big city's all over the country the cry is "back to the land." People who cannot save anything in the city imagine that they can become wealthy on a farm, while the average farmer would consider himself well off if he had the income of a man in the city. The real truth is, no matter if that man is in the city, he wants the man who is economical—who is content to live otherwise. Keeping expenses below income and putting the balance in a good bank means ultimate independence whether you are a farmer or a merchant, a huckster or a clerk. Try it. Open a savings account with the First National Bank of Connellsville. Add something to it regularly and watch your account grow. Four percent interest. It starts now.

Bismarck and His Boys.

Sultana, Ethne Bismarck's favorite bison, attacked a passing rail-road train and was cut to pieces. His master's grief over the dog's agonies was such that his son Herbert tried to lead him away, but the prince would not go. "No, I cannot leave him like this." Then, when the dog's sufferings were over, Bismarck wiped his eyes and announced: "Our Teuton forefathers showed benevolence in their religion. They believed they would find in the hunting grounds of their paradise all the dogs that had been their faithful comrades here below. I wish I could believe that."

Marriage Music.

During my school days I met the late Professor Trout, who was not full of fun as he was of musical lore. WEDDING FEAST

For Attorneys and County Officials at Uniontown.

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, Aug. 17.—Miss Pearl Kosberg, a cousin of Court Interpreter John Kaminsky, and Joseph Conrad were married last evening at 6 o'clock at the Hungarian Church in Uniontown by Rev. Father S. E. Seibert in the presence of a large gathering of friends of the young people, immediately after the ceremony the bride and bridegroom and their friends drove to the home of the bride at Dutch Hill, a short distance from Uniontown, where a large reception and wedding supper was held, the latter being a feature of the celebration.

The crowd disposed of twelve chickens, twelve ducks and an equal number of geese and a large veal. There was all kinds of fruits and the large tables were laden with all the delicacies of the season. There was an orchestra of several pieces and dancing was indulged in until long after midnight. At noon today several of the guests had not returned home from the celebration.

Squife John Boyle was master of ceremonies and Attorney John Duggan, the principal address of the evening. Among the Uniontown persons present were: Attorney W. L. Gans, Assistant District Attorney George Patterson, Harry W. Byrne, John Hengard, County Detective Frank McLaughlin, Deputy Sheriff Jessie Berg, Attorney Edgar Boyd, Sublet of Police Frank McCarty, Court Interpreter Samuel Goldstein, Constables Hugh McCann, Milton Morris, George Thomas and Dick Woods.

ENJOYABLE SURPRISE

Given Mrs. Jerry Baker at Home at Stauffer, Pa.

The residence of Mrs. Jerry Baker at Stauffer, Pa., was the scene of a very enjoyable surprise party on Saturday evening given in honor of the 15th anniversary of Mrs. Baker's birthday. The affair was quietly arranged and the first invitation Mrs. Baker had of the party was when 25 of her friends assembled at her home. She was the recipient of many pretty and useful presents. The evening was spent in various amusements and a late hour refreshments were served.

HANDEL AS A CHILD.

George Frederick Handel, the son of a Saxon barber and vintner, was only five years old when his "ingers wond divine method" from the spirit, which good natured men had suggested for him into an office, so that no sound of it might reach the ears of his father. At eight his playing so astonished the elector of Saxony that his father was compelled to withdraw his opposition and allow the genius of the boy to have fair play. And before he had reached his twelfth birthday young Handel was known throughout Germany as a brilliant composer and virtuoso at the court of the emperor.

Absolute Clearance Rather Than Profit Getting is the Aim of This Sale. All Summer Goods Must Be Sold

The heavier the season, the greater the accumulation of small lots. And because we have passed through a season of unusually large proportions, we've a lot of odd lots that must be disposed of. To you they're worth full price, to us only a fraction of it because they choke up our stock rooms and counters and crowd out fuller and larger assortments that sell more readily. So we've met the situation squarely; we haven't reduced prices in a listless way. If clearance is to be accomplished quickly, prices must be reduced sensationaly; what we get concerns us not nearly as much as how quickly we get it.

Sham Battles Add Interest in Soldiers' Camp

Special to The Courier.

GUTTYSBURG, Aug. 15.—Everything at camp is going along fine.
No sickens to amount to anything.
The weather is at its best for camping.
No rain until today, and that just settled the dust. The sham battle was fought today. Company D and the Hospital Corps were up at 2:30 to have breakfast and have their knapsacks packed and ready to leave at 4 o'clock. They returned at 2 P.
M. all in. John D. Sherrick, William Sherrick, Joseph Ritchie and Dr. Mc-Keeley were in camp today and took supper with the band. They drove here in Sherrick's White steamer.
Harry Dunn is also in camp, the guest of Company D.

Gettysburg being so far from Connellsville, visitors will be few. Dr.
L. P. McCormick's baby is the mascot of the regiment. Everybody wants to steal it. And it is enjoying itself,

Counties Treasurer Albert Hutchinson was in camp today and left with Private Zinc Show for Uniontown.

The sham battle was fought today and Company I, of Gettysburg, carried off all honors by killing eleven other companies. The Fourth and Second Brigade did their share today.

Paul Smith was orderly for Major McCormick during the battle.

Homer Moser had charge of the field hospital.

Wednesday will be Governor's Day
and we expect to see large crowds.
We had hundreds of visitors Sunday from all parts of the country.

Private Pete Moes of the Hospital Corps was orderly to Major C. C.
Wiley at brigade headquarters today.

Soisson-Flynn Wedding Aug. 15 in Philadelphia

The marriage of William L. Soisson, son of Mrs. Louisa Soisson of Church Place, and a prominent business man of Connellsville, and Miss Gertrude Flynn of The Buckingham, both on Walnut street, Philadelphia, were married on Monday morning, August 15, at St. James Roman Catholic Church, 36th and Chestnut street, Philadelphia, by Rev. James C. Abbanan, L. I. D. The wedding was a very pretty one and was witnessed by a number of friends of the bride.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr.
and Mrs. Soisson left for a honeymoon trip along the New England coast and in the White Mountains of New Hampshire.
Mr. Soisson is secretary and treasurer of the Connellsville Manufacturing and Mine Supply Company, West Side, and is widely and favorably known in Connellsville. The bride is very popular among her numerous friends and acquaintances in Philadelphia.

TO CLOSE DIXMONT

For Admission of Any More Patients
Owing to Congestion.

The overburdened condition of Dixmont, "the State's boarding house for its inmates," is to be relieved.

Dr. Frank Woodbury, Secretary of the State Lunacy Commission, accompanied by Francis J. Torrence, President of the State Board of Public Instruction, yesterday afternoon. Today Dr.
Woodbury will take steps toward the removal of at least 100 inmates to one of the three Allegheny institutions. He will visit Clarendon, and possibly Marchmont or Woodville this afternoon.

Another step contemplated by the Lunacy Commission is the closing of Dixmont to further patients. According to Dr. Woodbury negotiations probably will soon be entered into with the Attorney General in order to restrain the courts from sending any more insane patients to the institution.

May Smash on Rock of Bryanism.

The Keystone party in Pennsylvania is threatened with destruction on the rocks of Bryanism. The Keystone rock, it must be understood, is composed of a little band of "bitter" than those patriots who are out for any old office they may get. W. H. Berry, who borrowed money from Colonel J. M. Guffey when the colonel was in influence and deserted him without returning the cash when he was in financial distress, is the fantastic and sometimes furious head of the Keystone aggregation. D. Clarence Gibson, who has the record for office hunting in Philadelphia and who enjoys the distinction of having been elected sooner than any other man in the Keystone State, is the chief cook and bottle washer on the Keystone party's craft. The other members of the crew either are unknown or are in hiding lest their identity might alarm any stray passengers otherwise willing to go to sea with them. Will Ham Jennings Bryan has indicated his desire to come into Pennsylvania to help out his friend and advocate Mr.
Berry, and strange to say, Mr. Berry is anxious to have Mr. Bryan come here. Mr. Gibson wants any and all to help the Bryan contingent might give him but he refuses absolutely to agree to the coming of Bryan in person and upon that contention the Keystone party's candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor respectively have split and apparently split for good.
Mr. Berry is not so much of a politician as is Gibson. Mr. Berry has theories in abundance. He can constantly carry an overload of fun-and freak ideas about the country's affairs and he is sublimely confident that he personally is the only healthy feature in the country's development.
He is determined to destroy everything not fashioned after himself and he believes that Mr. Bryan could aid materially in his plan of destruction.
Gibson would prefer an office to a surgical operation which might eliminate everything and everybody but Berry. Berry contends that Bryan will sit up some real enthusiasm for the Keystone party and its candidates but insists that while Bryan has a distinct pat on the creation of enthusiasm he is not much of a vote getter and Gibson prefers the vota-tor. It is known that Gibson is hostile about accepting a seat upon the Keystone party's band wagon. He is not much of a sentimentalist. He has had large experience and he knows just as any man in the State that large sums of money are necessary for campaigns and until the money was raised and shown to him he balked at the second place on the ticket. The display of the cash and the acceptance of his nomination were accomplished at one and the same time. Berry, of course, refused to consider that a corruption fund would be necessary with him at the head of the ticket, but Gibson, having had wide experience, refused to see politics from that exceptual view point. Of course there was some difficulty in digging up a financial angel but he was dug up and Gibson took his place in line for another defeat. In Justice to Gibson he should be said that he is going to the slaughter with slow and reluctant feet. In fact he is so slow and reluctant that he will have none of Bryan personally in his campaign and the dawdling statesman from Nebraska must be told sooner or later that he is going to the Keystone party to keep to the Keystone party grass in Pennsylvania. This of course will be heart breaking to both Bryan and Berry, but Gibson is holding both purse strings in this little enterprise of the "better than all others" and he is making the rules for the first trip of the Keystone party's craft through the fog of foolish ambitions.

O. E. Elcker was elected a delegate to the annual conference to be held in September at Bradflock, while A. S.
Ridener was elected alternate delegate. Satisfactory reports were read by the various officers.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HAS BIG PICNIC.

Largest of the Year Taken Out of Scottdale by the West Penn.

WAS DEAL OF REAL PLEASURE

Outing Club Returns From Camp at North Gird and Immediately Begin Making Preparations For the Outing Next Year.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTTDALE, Aug. 17.—The Sunday school picnic which went out of here yesterday was the biggest one out of Scottdale or the West Penn this year, there being three cars of Sunday school people and their friends who went to Onford Park for the day. Nearly every Sunday school was represented and the Men's Bible Class of the Methodist Episcopal Church which started the idea to give a last opportunity for a general picnic to a pleasant park are well satisfied that they accomplished that. The low ratio of 20 cents, the lowest of any picnic excursion out here, was attractive. No incident of any kind marred the day and the West Penn Railways Company handled the people in the best of style. The park amusements were all in operation except the big dancing pavilion and the theatre, which does not run in matinee except on big days. The roller coaster, the merry-go-round, the skating rink, and the miniature railway and other amusements were well patronized. The picnickers got home on schedule time.

The Sons of Veterans are in camp on the hill and Thursday will be the big day, the old veterans being there from Western Pennsylvania.

Outing Club Returns.
The Scottdale Outing Club which has been spending two weeks in camp at North Gird, along the lake, arrived home in their special car yesterday, every one being in good health and looking fine. The outing was the most successful one this large social club has yet had, and all voted it a success from start to finish. The boys were in camp along the beach and the lady members of the party at a farm house about half a mile away. Arrangements will be commenced at once to organize the club's next year's outing, a year ahead being the time this work is commenced. It is probable that either Canada or Michigan will be chosen for the camping spot next year.

Visiting in Town.
Carl Strickler of Pittsburgh is in town visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Barbara Strickler and other relatives and friends for a few days.

In Building Bowling?
People passing the Rayor building were remissed wonder at the appearance of the brick wall on the Cheatum street side. Many claim that the three story brick wall which is now held at front is bulging out until it describes a great arch from the bottom of the wall to the top. People may be seen at almost any time standing and gazing along the wall.

President Away.
M. L. Haines, President of the Borough Council, is away this week having left for his vacation, much of which will be spent among relatives and friends in Ohio. Mrs. Haines preceded him to the Shadyside Hotel and he joined her yesterday.

Signs Are Put Up.
The cannibal signs warning the people not to go on the glider route pain of $1 fine have been put up about town. The long talk of signs of warning for automobileists have not been put up, and that it is doubtful if they will be is the opinion of many, until someone is killed or injured by some of the reckless summer which are increasing in number. Complaints continue about several of the speeders and warnings seem to be insufficient to induce them to lower their speed and the number of running thoughts, which of course is no concern of those who do not run cars.

Band Concert at Scottdale.
The twenty-fourth free concert by the Auxiliary Grand Army Band will be given at Locust park this evening at 8 o'clock, under Leader J. F. Hurley. A fine program has been arranged.

SURPRISE PARTY

Given For Mrs. Margaret Beeson at Home at Munker.

A very pleasant surprise party was held at the beautiful country home of Mrs. Margaret Beeson at Munker, August 13. It being her 67th birthday. About 75 relatives and friends brought their baskets and all enjoyed eating their dinner in the old way. Mrs. Beeson received a bunch of post cards in the morning from those that could not attend. Following are the names of those that were there:

COWBOY MAYOR OF OMAHA

OMAHA, Aug. 17.—The two leading Democratic aspirants for the gubernatorial nomination in Nebraska, James C. Dahlman, the "cowboy" mayor of Omaha, and Governor Ashton C. Shallenger, have worked earnestly for weeks in all parts of the State. Considerable opposition to county option was the "cowboy" mayor's slogan, and the present State executive took a more conciliatory position, agreeing to sign such a bill if it were passed by the next legislature. The fight for incorporation of the voters for the United States senatorial was an exceptionally strenuous one between Gilbert M. Hitchcock, present Congressman from the Omaha district, and Richard L. Metcalf, editor of Bryan's paper the Conqueror. Elmer J. Buckett, the present Senator, was the leader for the Republican nomination.

A Horse Deal That Fell Through at Mt. Pleasant

Special to The Courier.

MT. PLEASANT, Aug. 17.—Two weeks ago Chris Longbaugh, a well known lumberman of the mountain district gave Jerry Peterson, a sewing machine agent of this vicinity, a horse in return for which he was to receive a new buggy and $10 from Peterson at the end of the following week. The time designated for the delivery of the buggy came and went, but Longbaugh waited in vain for the vehicle. Several days later Peterson was confronted by the angry lumberman and asked to explain the delay. But he received no satisfaction from that source. So he came into town yesterday and sought out Constable James Ellis and J. H. Thompson. He had explained the matter to those two gentlemen while standing on the street on the diamond.

The story was just finished when Longbaugh became greatly agitated and pointing his finger over toward a hitching post on the Diamond showed the officer a horse and buggy which Peterson had just tied up, and was just then going into a store. Longbaugh recognized his own horse hitched to the buggy and told the officers the officer advised Longbaugh to wait until the horse took off the harness who who in the way is nearly six and one half feet in height attracted much attention when he unfastened the horse and the harness on the street and getting outside the horse, waved an adieu to the officers and rode away. Peterson upon his return rode into town to take his buggy home. He was furious when the officers told him the true circumstances, and threatened to bring suit against Longbaugh.

TO TEST ILLINOIS LAWS

Coal Operators Will Import Nonunion Miners in Strike-Ridden Field.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—The advisory committee of the Illinois Coal Operators' association has concluded to test the laws which prohibit the importation of miners in the strike-ridden Illinois district. The committee issued an ultimatum that the strikers would have to accept the compromise agreement which was sanctioned by International President Lewis or see their places filled with nonunion men.

As a part of the plan to import nonunion miners it was decided that the operators as an association would have to purchase one of the mines owned by individual members so that responsibility for the action will be evenly distributed.

The Veterans Name Committees for Their Picnic

The committee on arrangements, consisting of the officers of the Fayette County Veterans' association, has appointed the following sub-committees to act in connection with the tenth annual re-union of the veterans to be held at Shady Grove Park on Thursday night, August 25. The details of this reunion are being worked out and a running good time and successful outing are assured. Colonel J. M. Schonhofer and Captain Kerr of Pittsburgh, and Major G. W. Neff, of Masontown, will make the principal addresses of the day.

The committee appointed were announced yesterday and together with the officers are as follows:

President, W. T. Kennedy; vice presidents, Capt. W. S. Craft, Lieut. S. C. Krepp, J. R. Balsley, Joseph Rohr; chaplain, F. M. Cunningham; treasurer, A. L. Ellis; quartermaster, Milton Kemp; assistant, Levi Francis; secretary, Clark Collins; committed on reception, Capt. J. M. Hustead, J. B. Wilgus, Col. Edward Campbell, I. L. Collins, Hay, Caskill, L. George B. Shupe of Scottdale is in Danger

Special to The Courier.
SCOTTDALE, Aug. 17.—George B. Shupe, editor of The Independent, who has been ill with typhoid fever, suffered a very alarming turn yesterday afternoon, sinking into a condition which lasting over half an hour caused grave apprehension. His temperature rose to 191°. This morning his condition is somewhat improved. Serious attacks of inflammation of the bowels in past years are responsible for the most danger to him.

Cincinnati Brokers File Action Against Railroad Attorney.

Cincinnati, Aug. 17.—Rudolph and Leopold Clepholte, brokers of Cincinnati, have filed three suits in the court of common pleas of Cincinnati against Newman Erb, a prominent railroad attorney of New York. One suit alone aggregates $1,100,000. The action grows out of the formation of a holding trust of the old firm of Clepholte & Co. in 1908.

The suits involved are of a gigantic nature, one of them being the purchase of the Chicago, Cincinnati and Louisville railroad by the Chesapeake and Ohio. It is asked that the profits of this deal be impressed with the other amounts in the trusteeship for the benefit of the creditors.

COL. ROOSEVELT READY TO FIGHT.

Trouble Brewing Over Action of New York Committee.

COLONEL IS A PROGRESSIVE

Places Himself in Writing as Being in Line With Ideas of the Insurgents. Will Be Delegate to New York Republican Convention.

TEDDY A PROGRESSIVE? HIS "DECLARATION."

"To the various persons who asked me whether I would accept the position of temporary chairman of the state convention I said that I would do so only if they were sure after knowing my attitude that they desired me because my speech would be of such a character that it might help if the convention nominated the right kind of a man on a certain progressive platform, but that it would 'help' if neither the right kind of a man were nominated, nor the right kind of a platform adopted."

New York, Aug. 17.—Colonel Roosevelt received the news of his turn-down by the Republican state committee with mingled emotion. At first he appeared to be a bit exalted and angry when the news began trickling into the Outlook office.

After a short conference with David C. Griscom, Roosevelt issued a brief statement in which he hinted that the action of the committee was not unexpected by him.

Roosevelt knew that he was to be put in nomination by Griscom, for the county chairman had asked him if he might do that and the colonel told him to go ahead. He appeared to have been pleased rather than angry at the result.

Debating on Coming Fight.

Just what course Roosevelt will pursue in the fight for control of the convention is not clear. There is little doubt that he will attend as a delegate from Nauvoo county, provided, of course, he is named at the primaries. There were those in town who intimated that there might be another scrap to prevent the colonel from getting inside the hall, but the colonel didn't put much stock in that.

This much is clear: Roosevelt's fighting blood is up. He placed himself in writing as a progressive in this state and he is going to make his fight along progressive lines.

Griscom said that he was unable to say just what color the fight would assume, but he allowed that it will be a red hot one. He is of the opinion that Roosevelt will go to the convention without any doubt and that he will make a speech expressing his views.

The county chairman declared that before the meeting he had not made a canvass of the delegates and did not know how things stood. He thought that if three members from the committee from the western part of the state had been present the result might have been changed slightly.

OLD GUARD DETERMINED TO GET TEDDY'S SCALP

New York, Aug. 17.—The Republican state committee, at the meeting ostensibly called for the fixing of the time and place of the Republican state convention, took advantage of the opportunity to turn down Colonel Roosevelt's pretensions at directing the policies of the Republican party in this state in the coming campaign.

The old guard of the state machine organization, headed by such men as Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff of the state committee, William Barnes, Jr., of Albany, Frank Hendrieck of Syracuse and Speaker Wadsworth, decided at a conference between themselves to force the fight at once between Colonel Roosevelt and Chairman Lloyd C. Griscom of the Republican county committee, who represent what they call the progressive element in the Republican party in this state, and the old-time organization state leaders.

Leaders Carry the Day.

They carried through their program on a vote taken at a meeting of the committee on the choice of a temporary chairman of the Republican state convention to be held in September, the date of which incidentally was fixed for Sept. 27.

The opinion held by the state leaders was that Mr. Roosevelt had received everything he could expect of the Republican party of this state, that having served his term as president he could offer nothing to the party, except what influence he might have with the voters on the street, influence which they thought was not so very great now, and that, therefore, in attempting to dictate the policy of the party in the state he was going out of his way to make the party situation here even worse than it is.

Griscom went to the Republican club expecting that the only business which would be transacted would be the fixing of the date and place of the convention. He had been in the

There Are Big Crop Profits Here For You.

Irrigation Makes Them Certain!

If you're tired of struggling for a mere existence on an unproductive Eastern farm, and would like to get where crop profits will be quick and plenty, and where life will be worth living, please examine these facts regarding the Sacramento Valley lands in Golden California.

Made wonderfully rich and fertile by irrigating streams from the Sacramento River, these hundreds of thousands of acres of virgin soil are being converted quickly into one of the richest farm and fruit districts in the world by the Sacramento Valley Irrigation Company, of which Mr. W. S. Kuhn, of Pittsburgh, is President, and Mr. J. S. Kuhn, a Director.

The following figures tell the story of what is actually being accomplished by those already in the valley. These figures are published by three Chambers of Commerce and a State Board of Trade.

Net Annual Profit Per Acre.

	Almonds	Apples	Bananas	Oranges	Pecans	Walnuts
Apples	$100-$150	$40-$60	$60-$100	$100-$150	$100-$150	$100-$150
Bananas	$100-$150	$60-$100	$100-$150	$100-$150	$100-$150	$100-$150
Oranges	$100-$150	$60-$100	$100-$150	$100-$150	$100-$150	$100-$150
Pecans	$100-$150	$60-$100	$100-$150	$100-$150	$100-$150	$100-$150
Walnuts	$100-$150	$60-$100	$100-$150	$100-$150	$100-$150	$100-$150

Higher profits are frequently made in the yield from oranges, figs and lemons, often running as high as $2,500 to $3,000 per acre.

A Large Farm Is Unnecessary.

Sacramento Valley farms of eighty and forty acres, and less, yield more profit than eastern farms many times the size. And what is best, you can secure your farm at the small outlay of only four cents an acre per day. The variety of crops is remarkable. The fertility of the soil is wonderful. The harvests many. The land works ten months of the twelve.

You Get Tip Top Prices at Ready Markets.

Markets are close at hand. Demand for products is always great. Prices paid for products are the highest.

Highways on two sides of each forty acre tract, the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad running through the property, the nearby Sacramento River affording freight facilities the year round, close proximity to San Francisco and Sacramento—all these combine in providing for a sure market unequalled anywhere.

And The Climate—

Nothing to equal it—not even that of Southern Italy, which has 220 sunny days a year against 238 Sacramento Valley days of sunshine. No freezing frosts. No droughts. No washouts.

H. L. HOLLISTER & COMPANY,

J. H. SIMPSON, Resident Manager, 345 Fourth Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.

No hailstorms. No icebound winters. No lack of water.

You Pay Only 4¢ a Day per Acre.

Think of it! You have ten years in which to pay for your farm—which figures out to only 4¢ a day per acre. You pay $15 an acre the first year, $10 the second, $11 the third, and so on until the full price is paid. At this rate the farm actually buys itself from its frequent crop yield. Upon completion of payments the irrigation works become the property of the owners of the farms. Water rights are permanent, having been granted by the State of California, and confirmed by Act of Congress.

We Help You Move.

We will give you full particulars and every assistance that will enable you to get to California comfortably and cheaply.

You should learn about this proposition, for it means something to you. You should learn about it now and so get in line for a well located farm, for farms are selling rapidly.

See The Coupon.

To find out all about it, send in the attached coupon to-day with ten cents for our book "California Now or Never." This small charge does not begin to cover the cost of the book, and is only made that we may be assured that you are really in earnest to learn about this wonderful property, and the opportunity it means to YOU.

No matter what kind of farming you want to do, this is the land on which you can do it, and reap best results.

Secretary of the Interior Says It Would Be Foolish to Resign After Getting Clean Bill of Health From President.

Washington, Aug. 17.—Secretary Ballinger has sent word to Beverly Crane, who came over from Dalton for a two-hour chat about political conditions and about the contemplated reorganization of the Republican party.

Secretary Norton, who was present at this conference, took the word of the colonel and he did not resign.

Crane, who was present at this conference, took the word of the colonel and he did not resign.

The executive offices had nothing at all to say when told of the setback to the colonel. Secretary Norton allowed himself to smile just a little, but that was all.

In other quarters, however, the news caused a profound sensation.

The statement of the colonel practically placing himself in the ranks of the insurgents caused a stir only second to that created by the announcement of the reorganization plans of Senator Crane and Mr. Norton. That statement may put the plans upon the shelf. The scheme of reorganization is likely to remain in abeyance for a time.

While the new leaders are not likely to admit that this "declaration" by the colonel will be a death blow to their attempt to reform the Republican party, they certainly are not expected to go ahead with their plans until the full meaning of that declaration can be ascertained.

Secretary Norton said that the new leaders may sing in a more minor key.

The RING and the MAN

WITH SOME INCIDENTAL RELATION TO THE WOMAN
By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY
ILLUSTRATIONS BY DEBORAH MELVILLE

"Never!" said Gormly. "And I confess to you that of late I have had similar thoughts. I want to do something for humanity," he went on slowly. "There are certain people who stimulate us to achievement, who awaken our ambition, who quicken our hope, who—Don't you comprehend? You have put something into my life which it lacked. Now I want to do something for—you, Miss Haldane."

"For you, Mr. Gormly?"

"For you and my fellow men; for your approval and theirs. You see you have brought me in touch with a state of being of which I knew little. I was not born into your society. Until I saw you, I had no desire to mingle in it. I have not taken a vacation, except business trips abroad, for twenty-five years. For instance, this is the first time in all that long period that I have stood alone in a room and talked socially, by her gracious privilege, on terms of outward equality, with a fine, high-bred, capable, woman. Can't you understand how you exert a new influence, how you have brought a new force into my life, and that from my acquaintance with you results are certain to come?"

He sat down on a chair on the other side of the fireplace as he spoke, bringing himself on a level with her. She looked at him with curious interest.

She saw his smooth-shaven face, sauced and lined with thought and care. She marked the strength of his intelligence, the resolution in his countenance. It lacked completing touches of tenderness, it lacked the woman's influence; but aside from that it was altogether admirable, virile, and strong.

"I want to do something," he said, "to make me worth." His voice trembled, "the respect of," he looked at her—"of people like you," he went on, "and I am going to do something, too."

"You frighten me," said the girl, appalled as we often are by the granting of our prayers, the acceptance of our suggestions, the realization of our hopes. "I don't like to feel that what you are doing is for—for."

"Say it, Miss Haldane. For you."

"I can't assume such a responsibility," she protested; "and such a motive is not the highest, the best."

"Nonsense!" said the man almost roughly. "The best things in life are done for the sake of good women, and there is not a human being in the world who possesses your powers and capabilities who does not thrill to responsibilities. In your heart of hearts you are glad—or you will be glad if through your inspiration something is accomplished, by whatever way or means it may be—even by me—for mankind."

And the woman knew that the words were true. She thrilled even then to the strength of his protestation.

"You see I know humanity. I don't know society; you observed that by my awkward reception of you all here tonight."

"Indeed," said the girl; "it was most graceful and kindly hospitality, and we deeply appreciate it."

"It is good of you to say so," he hesitated. "If I had some one who knew to teach me; but other things I know myself. I am at a discount with women; but I can handle men and I know men. Every human being is glad to ally himself with success. If you and I together do something, you will be happy if we succeed."

"And miserable if we fail!" queried the girl with a nervous laugh.

"We will not fail."

"You are proposing a partnership?"

"There is a quasi-partnership existing between us now in the settlement house. Your devotion, your generous thought for those people, with my business back of you—for it is back of you, Miss Haldane, in that or anything else to the last limit—is going to produce results there that nobody dreams of."

"Are you going to devote yourself to that?"

"No," said the man quickly. "I have something bigger and greater in view. That's your part of the partnership; mine is to help you, and—"

"And what are you going to do?" asked the girl, intensely interested, leaning forward, her breath coming quicker.

"I am going to be mayor of New York, for one thing, Miss Haldane."

"Yes. And them?"

It touched him immensely to see the matter of fact way with which she accepted his stupendous declaration.

"And then, I am going to be the best mayor New York ever had, an honest mayor. The administration shall be conducted on business lines, and business with me doesn't spell chicanery. There isn't a dishonest dollar in my fortune. You will forgive my personal talk? I don't often resort to it; but you make me tell whatever you want to know."

How did this man divine that these things were things she wanted to know? thought the girl, as she nodded gravely to him.

"Go on!"

"I am going to suppress graft; I am going to break up the gangs that rob the city; I am going to bring the traction companies, the freight and the others, to terms. I am going to make them give the people good value for the franchises they enjoy; I am going to reform the police force and stop its taking toll of crime, its connivance with sin! New York is going to be free, and I am going to tell it the truth and make it so!"

He stopped and, not trusting himself to look at her, stared into the fire again. There was a long pause.

"Well," said he, fanning a direct look at her, "what do you think of it, Miss Haldane?"

"It is the greatest dream, that ever entered a human brain," said the girl quietly.

"It is my business, it has been my business all my life, Miss Haldane, to make dreams come true, and I am dreaming now a greater dream, dearer to me than that I have outlined before you."

What could he mean? She strove to meet his glance fairly; but her own eyes fell before his own direct gaze.

"Do you think I can do it, make my dream come true?" he asked.

"While dreams, Mr. Gormly?"

"Both of them."

"That you can be mayor of New York; that you can redeem the city; that you can restore to the people their liberties—I don't know. Other men have tried it and have failed."

"And I may fail, too," answered Gormly very quietly. "Such achievements are not the results merely of one man's efforts. The people themselves must respond. Whether I can make them do that or not will determine the issue."

"I think you can, Mr. Gormly. You have made me respond."

"And will you help me?"

"I! What can I do?"

"Do what you have done tonight; listen to me, believe in me, inspire me, be my silent partner in my endeavor as I have been yours in your endeavor."

"And after you have succeeded?"

"That's the other dream, and—"

"Mr. Gormly," she said resolutely, "if you make that dream come true, you will have done more service to humanity than has ever been done by a citizen of this republic, and you will be the greatest man on this side of the world."

"And if my other dream comes true," said Gormly, "I will be the happiest."

"May they all come true!" said the girl impulsively rising and giving him her hand.

"Do you mean that?" eagerly asked the man, gratefully taking her professed hand in his own, firm, resolved grasp.

"At the proper time," said the man, "you shall know. Meanwhile, tomorrow we shall get to work."

"Tomorrow will be Christmas," said the girl smiling.

"My Christmas present to you, Miss Haldane, will be the beginning of the campaign."

"And mine to you, Mr. Gormly," she returned laughing. "Will be my good wishes and hearty encouragement in your labor."

"I could wish nothing better," he went on lightly, glad and relieved at this change from the intensity of the interview. "I shall announce myself as a candidate for the majority at the next election. Representatives of the minority party have already approached me on that subject."

"And what did you say to them?"

"Nothing yet. You see this is all new work to me, and I must consider my way carefully."

"Have you ever made a public speech?"

"Never in my life."

"Well, if you can talk to the people as you have talked to me tonight, I am sure you will win."

The girl said it artlessly, carelessly; but her heart leaped to the assurance.

"That's to be determined," he said. "Most men would say it was easier to talk to one woman than to a thousand people. I have had bad experience with neither. As I told you, it has been a quarter of a century since I talked alone with a woman."

"Who is that in the west of whom you spoke?"

"I am glad to tell you. It was in the west. She wasn't a good woman, Miss Haldane," he said simply, "and I have never seen her since that night."

" Didn't you know that she was not a good woman?" asked the girl.

She had no right whatever to continue this conversation; but something impelled her. He had been very frank. His interest in her was now matched by hers in him.

"Not at that time; I did not suspect, that is, I was only a boy of nineteen."

"And is it because of that woman that you have seen no others until I met you?"

"Yes, Miss Haldane."

"Poor man!" said the girl half to herself.

"Not at all," answered Gormly; "you were quite worth waiting for."

"Eleanor," said her father at this moment, "won't you take my hand? I want to talk to our host a little myself."

And although Eleanor, as she had said, cared nothing for bridge, the interruption at this juncture was very welcome to her.

CHAPTER V.

Mr. Haldane is Greatly Surprised. Mr. Haldane was in something of a quandary. For certain reasons and for some time he had been contemplating an interview with Gormly. Not only did he greatly desire the interview.

"Want to Do Something for You, Miss Haldane."

which was indeed necessary, almost vital to the furtherance of certain matters in which he was deeply concerned, but he did not desire that his interest, personal interest, that is, in the affair should appear. In other words he wanted to talk seriously about something of great importance to him without disclosing that the matter was of more than passing moment.

The opposition had greatly underrated the character and ability of Gormly. The Gotham Freight Transportation company, for instance, had pooh-poohed him at first, and even now, though the public press was filled with accounts of him and his doings, they still greatly underestimated his qualities. Haldane himself had joined in this depreciation until he had met Gormly. He had as yet enjoyed no opportunity of conversing with him. He called in Spanish to one of his aides to bring Dr. Montanya, the physician of the Chilean party. Not in good health himself, he was greatly shocked by the attempt on Mayor Gaynor's life. He asked earnestly that the mayor be assured of his sympathy and his best wishes.

He had expected to remain in Europe a year to build up his health. Heart trouble had worried him and he was weary from administrative labors. It was his intention to take the waters at Bad Naumburg and travel slowly about the continent getting as much rest as possible.

"I am tired," he said before leaving New York. "I want to rest."

He arrived here on Aug. 3, a passenger with his young wife and suite, on the steamer Tagus, which he boarded at Colon. Fort Wadsworth saluted him with the twenty-one guns that are a ruler's due and the United States government assigned officers of the army and navy to be his aides.

President Taft sent a representative of the state department to greet him at Quarantine and deliver a message from the president to his good friend the president of Chile.

CHILEAN CHIEF

DIES AT BREMEN.

President Montt Succumbs to Heart Disease.

WENT TO EUROPE FOR HEALTH

Chief Executive of Chile Was in New York Last Week and Greeted Mayor Gaynor Just Few Moments Previous to Shooting.

Bremen, Aug. 17.—President Pedro Montt, president of Chile, who was a passenger on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosser, from New York Aug. 9, died here last night from a recurrence of heart trouble due to a recent attack of angina pectoris.

Was Nearby at Gaynor Shooting. New York, Aug. 17.—President Montt sailed from New York on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosser on the morning of Tuesday, Aug. 9, Mayor Gaynor was on the Kaiser ready to start on his vacation when James J. Gallagher shot him.

President Montt and the mayor had conversed gaily a few minutes before Gallagher appeared. Montt was one of the first to summon medical aid. He called in Spanish to one of his aides to bring Dr. Montanya, the physician of the Chilean party. Not in good health himself, he was greatly shocked by the attempt on Mayor Gaynor's life. He asked earnestly that the mayor be assured of his sympathy and his best wishes.

Excitement has been intense here. Officer Duke of the Chesapeake and Ohio detective force, brought in a negro, John Wayne, said to be the one who killed Mrs. Lotta Alliss at Quinimont Sunday night.

When Duke got off the passenger train a crowd gathered, and it was with difficulty that he was placed in the county jail. Leaders of the mob finally agreed to take the negro to John Alliss, who was in a hospital here, badly injured, and see if he recognized the man.

Alliss failed to recognize him and said he did not know him. Leaders beforehand agreed to let the officers have the negro and was taken to Fayetteville county jail. Alliss was placed in a Pullman car at the depot and the three negroes were brought in. First two home negroes, next the prisoner.

Alliss said he could not say until he felt better. The mob then refused to allow the trainmen to move the Pullman to Gayetteville, or anywhere else. They uncoupled the engine many times, cut the air hose and several flights occurred at the engines. Meanwhile thirty town and city officers were in the car with the negro. This continued until officers and militia from Fayette Games This Week.

Wednesday—Leisening at Bitter; Bute at Monarch.
Thursday—Davidson at Trotter. Leisening at Monarch.

Three rattling good games were played in the Central Frick League last evening. The Morgan boys took an exciting game from Davidson 2 to 1; Bitter surprised the whole league by defeating Leisening; in a decisive 6 to 2 contest while Bute downed Monarch 5 to 1.

Today the Bute boys go to Morgan and hope to duplicate their performance against Monarch. Leisening plays at Bitter.

Morgan 2, Davidson 1.

A brilliant game between Morgan and Davidson yesterday afternoon was marred by some wrangling towards the last and ended in a manner not entirely satisfactory. Morgan won 2 to 1 but did not play the better game. But for Anthony baserunning and a couple of close decisions at second decided in favor of the visitors, the Davidson boys, crippled though they were would have left the field victorious. But the fans, umps and the horsemen were not conning Davidson's way. Sheetz pitched a brilliant game of ball and so did Byrne for Morgan. Neither had much on the other. Sheetz's work was especially praiseworthy in the closing innings with men on the bases. In the fourth and fifth innings Morgan was tired on strikes, the heavy hitters being included in the list. On the other hand Hornsby showed his mettle by fanning the last two men retired for Davidson.

Morgan started the game with the evident intention of "cleaning up." Davidson, B. Pruey, first up, tapped a Texas league out for the infield for a single. Byrne essayed to bunt but was retired at first on a bounder to Sheetz. Thomas then smacked a two-bounding triple over F. Spittler's head. B. Pruey scoring, Hiley popped to Sheetz and L. Elling dived on a high one to lion Spittler.

Davidson could not score, a solitary hit by Cunningham being the only bright feature of the session.

In the second Morgan was retired in order but Davidson tied the score on a pair of singles. Sheetz led off with a safety and stole second. Ben Spittler popped to H. Kling but Bennett's smashing drive to right for a base hit led Sheetz and B. Elling dived on a high one to lion Spittler.

The lead of the batting order was up for Morgan in the third and produced results once more. For a second time B. Pruey homered the leather for a hit. Byrne flew to F. Spittler but Thomas soaked the sphere safe between left and middle. B. Pruey started on a Marathon from second. He was out but it was probably due to Sheetz's mix of Ross blossoms' throw towards the pan. That ended Morgan's scoring.

Davidson threw away a beautiful chance to tie the score in the same inning. One down, Roseblossom took control when Hornsby three-hits ground into the crowd back of first. Then came a single by Cunningham to right. Roseblossom stayed to score, an almost 100% attempt, and was nailed at the plate by a mile. Jones followed with a single which sent Cunningham to third. Tom stole second but Sheetz whiffed and the side was retired.

Davidson's next lovely chance to break up the game came in the fifth. After a single and an error put two Morgan men on the bases, Sheetz wiffed the side. Bitter led off at the home club by hitting a mite high one. Although the ball rolled almost to the backstop the glibby Robbins forced it to first ahead of the runner. With F. Spittler Robbins was not so fortunate and the runner was safe. Roseblossom hit one to Hornsby who threw in a con. Thomas was slow starting for the bag and Hornsby's toss was bad. The ball rolled into center field and Spittler fielded for third.

Byrne threw the ball to third and Spittler turned back to second. Pruey flew to Thomas but Spittler beat the throw, having his hand on the base when Thomas got the ball. It is a question whether Thomas did not drop the ball at first, for his hand was out of under Spittler on the play. Pruey, Sheetz who was back of the plate called softly out and the latter walked in and told the umps what he thought of the decision. It cost Davison the game.

Spittler was pulled away by Catch or Tom Jones but Sheetz bunched him for the indiscretion. Cunningham and Jones each singled, filled the sacks, but Sheetz again made three healthy swings at the ball and retired disgruntled. Another dispute occurred when attention was called to the fact that F. Spittler's successor wore no baseball uniform save his shirt. Shelby was inclined to order him to the bench but reconsidered. Both Davidson and Morgan were retired on strikes and the game was called because of darkness. The score:
